Hosted by the Interact Club of Annapurna SOS, this blood donation program marked the continuation of our community commitment at SOS Children's Village in Gandaki. Organized in close collaboration with Small Group Homes Gandaki and SOS Children's Villages, the event brought together dedicated youth and community donors to collect life-saving blood for local hospitals. Together, we turned compassion into direct action, reinforcing our shared dedication to health, service, and saving lives.

Project Summary:

The blood donation program was a hands-on community health drive held at SOS Children's Village Gandaki in collaboration with Small Group Homes Gandaki. Volunteers and local medical teams set up a full clinical station to register donors, conduct health checks, and safely carry out blood draws, creating a smooth and supportive environment for everyone involved. As a result of the event, essential blood supplies were collected for regional medical facilities, local youth actively engaged in community service, and donors directly contributed to saving lives through voluntary donation.

The main impacts/objectives of the event are as follows:

1. Boost Supply: Collect vital blood components for urgent hospital care.
2. Ensure Safety: Provide complete pre-donation health checks and sterile blood draws.
3. Mobilize Youth: Encourage young people to take the lead in community wellness.
4. Drive Support: Inspire voluntary, non-remunerated donations across the local area.
5. Save Lives: Connect local donors directly to patients requiring emergency transfusions.

Conclusion: The blood donation program helped the local community by collecting essential blood supplies for patients needing emergency care. By organizing a smooth, safe screening and donation process, the event empowered local youth to step up in service and encouraged community members to save lives through voluntary donation. Overall, it provided direct medical support to regional hospitals and built a stronger, more compassionate network of community health.

Feedback of the attendees

1. I always wanted to do something like donating blood knowing it'll help someone who's in need after getting such chance by Interact and this event—I'm happy and exited for donating and helping as much as I can(Itr. Asim Thapa)
2. As someone who has never donated blood—I'm bit thrilled but , if it's going to help someone in need-sure, Thanks Interact(Itr. Milan Bhetal)
