.On 28th August, The Interact Club of Annapurna Higher Secondary School collaborated with Leo Club Of Kathmandu Dharahara Height for the "Connected with Rakhi" event. This event was to give on duty police officers the warmth of rakhi and protection aswell.

Project Summary:

.On 28th August, The Interact Club of Annapurna H.S.S. celebrated Rakhi Day with a heartfelt twist by reaching out to the on duty police officers and traffic police who do not get holidays on such special occasions. Club members visited these brave protectors at their posts and tied rakhi on their wrists, symbolizing love, respect, and gratitude for their unwavering service to the community. Along with the rakhi, the team shared sweets and warm wishes, bringing a touch of festive warmth to those who spend their holidays safeguarding others. The event was a beautiful reminder that protection comes in many forms, and it left both the officers and the participants deeply
