About “Ghintang Ghisi: The Rhythm of Culture”

Introduction:

Ghintang Ghisi is a traditional Newar cultural festival celebrated mainly in the Kathmandu Valley. It is known for lively traditional dances, music, and colorful cultural performances. People gather in groups and dance to the rhythm of traditional instruments while wearing traditional clothes. The festival creates a joyful atmosphere and brings the community together. It also helps preserve and promote the rich culture, customs, and traditions of the Newar community.

Event Summary:

The Ghintang Ghisi program was successfully conducted on September 4, 2026, in Madhyapur Thimi, with the active participation of 85 participants. The event was organized to celebrate and promote the rich cultural heritage and traditional practices of the Newar community. With the enthusiastic involvement of all 85 participants, the event was completed successfully and became a memorable cultural experience. The program not only provided entertainment and enjoyment but also contributed to keeping local traditions alive and passing cultural values on to the younger generation.
